Item 4 – Advisory Business

A. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC, founded in March 2006 by Thomas F. Paolozzi III, the firm’s sole owner, is a state registered investment advisor located in New Canaan, Connecticut.

B. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC provides its Clients (i.e. individuals, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, and business entities) with discretionary investment management services on a wrap-fee basis pursuant to the terms and conditions of its wrap-fee program. We do not provide financial planning or insurance planning services. To the extent specifically requested by a Client, we may provide limited consultation services to our investment management Clients on investment and non-investment related matters. Any such consultation services, to the extent rendered, shall be rendered exclusively on an unsolicited basis, for which we shall not receive any separate or additional fee. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC also serves as the General Partner to a private fund, The Plato Fund L.P. (the “Fund”) and provides investment advice to the Fund.

C. Other than with respect to its investment advice to the Fund, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC provides continuous advice to each Client regarding investment of Client funds based on the individual needs of the Client. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a Client's circumstances are established, we develop a Client's suitability and risk tolerance levels, and create and manage a portfolio based on such. We will manage advisory accounts on a discretionary basis only. Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the Client (i.e., conservative total return, moderate total return, or aggressive total return).

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC will create a portfolio consisting of one or all the following: individual equities, ETFs, bonds, other investment products, and no-load or load-waived mutual funds. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC will allocate the Client's assets among various investments taking into consideration the financial objectives of the Client. The mutual funds will be selected based on any or all the following criteria: the fund's performance history; the industry sector in which the fund invests; the track record of the fund's manager; the fund's investment objectives; the fund's management style and philosophy; and the fund's management fee structure. Portfolio weighting between funds and market sectors will be determined by each client's individual needs and circumstances as well as market conditions. Clients will have the opportunity to place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments which will be made on the client's behalf. Clients will retain individual ownership of all securities.

When appropriate to the needs of the Client, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC may recommend the use of trading (securities sold within 30 days), short sales, margin transactions or option writing. Because these investment strategies involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be recommended when consistent with the Client's stated tolerance for risk.

D. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC is the sponsor and investment manager of the Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC Wrap-Fee Program (hereinafter the "Program"). A "wrap-fee" program is one that provides the Client with advisory and brokerage execution services for one all-inclusive fee (also called the “advisory fee”). Except as described below, a Program Client is not charged separate fees for the respective components of the total service.

To participate in the Program, all our Clients must direct the use of TD Ameritrade Institutional (“TD Ameritrade”) to act as broker and custodian for Program account securities transactions. Participants in the program are directed to Appendix 1 to this document, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC Wrap-Fee Brochure for additional information regarding the Program.

E. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC manages all Client accounts on a discretionary basis. As of 2/28/2019 the Firm had a total of $93,400,000 assets under management on a discretionary basis.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

A. Alexander Capital Advisors is a fee-based advisor, with fees based upon a percentage of the dollar value of the assets under management. In certain circumstances, all fees and account minimums may be negotiable.

The annual fee for Alexander Capital Advisor's Investment Supervisory Services is 1.35% of assets under management, except for those accounts described in Item 6.

B. The client's written agreement with Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC establishes that Client accounts will be debited by the custodian in advance for the advisor's fee on a quarterly basis. These dates may vary at the discretion of the advisor. The amount of the advisory fee will be based upon the value (market value or fair market value in the absence of market value) of the client's account on the month end prior to the payable date.

Advisory fees are clearly shown as a separate line item on each client's monthly statement from the custodian, TD Ameritrade. Clients also receive a letter from us on or about the invoicing date showing how the fee is calculated for the upcoming quarter.

The fee charged is calculated as described above and is not charged based on a share of capital gains upon or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds of an advisory client, except for those accounts described in Item 6.

C. The fee includes all advisory and brokerage execution services. The fee does not include miscellaneous exchange fees, interest charges, electronic fund and wire transfer fees, The American Depository Receipt agency processing fees, and any charges, taxes or other fees mandated by any federal, state or other applicable law.

D. An advisory client has a right to terminate the agreement without penalty within five (5) business days after entering into the agreement. Furthermore, a Client agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of written notice. Since Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC's fees must be paid in advance, upon termination of any account any prepaid, unearned fees will be refunded within 90 days, prorated as described below.

The prorated refund is determined by verifying the date of termination and is based upon the number of months remaining in the current billing quarter. The fraction of prepaid quarterly fees to be refunded is calculated with the following formula:

$$\frac{(1, 2, \text{ or } 3) \text{ Number of months left in current quarter}}{(3) \text{ Number of months in quarter}} \times $ \text{ Fees Paid} = $ \text{ Refund}$$

E. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC and its employees do not receive any compensation for the sale of securities or other investment products, including mutual funds.

Item 6 – Performance Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Performance based fee arrangements may create an incentive for an advisor to recommend investments which may be riskier or more speculative than those which would be recommended under a different fee arrangement. Such fee arrangements also create an incentive to favor higher fee-paying accounts over other accounts in the allocation of investment opportunities. As discussed below, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has procedures designed and implemented to ensure that all Clients are treated fairly and equally, and to prevent this conflict from influencing the allocation of investment opportunities among Clients.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC provides investment advice to a variety of clients. We may entertain requests by certain “qualified clients” (as amended and defined by Rule 205-3(d) under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, below) to enter into an advisory agreement that provides for compensation based on a share of the capital gains upon, or the capital appreciation of, the qualified client’s assets under management or account. This is referred to as a “performance fee”. As described below, this may present an incentive to favor one account over another, and thus a conflict of interest. At this time, Alexander Capital Advisors does not charge a performance fee to any client other the Fund, as described below.

The Plato Fund, LP

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC also provides investment advice to a private investment limited partnership known as The Plato Fund, L.P. (the “Fund”), in which Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC acts as the General Partner.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC also offers advice to its Clients on the advisability of investing in The Fund. Interests in the Fund are privately offered only to qualified clients as defined below.

“Qualified Client” pursuant to SEC Investment Advisers Act regulations, Section 205-3, means:

- (i) A natural person who or a company that immediately after entering into the contract has at least $1,000,000 under the management of the investment adviser;*
- (ii) A natural person who or a company that the investment adviser entering into the contract (and any person acting on his behalf) reasonably believes, immediately prior to entering into the contract, either*
 - a. Has a net worth (together, in the case of a natural person, with assets held jointly with a spouse) of more than $2,100,000. For purposes of calculating a natural person’s net worth:*
 - 1. The person’s primary residence must not be included as an asset;*
 - 2. Indebtedness secured by the person’s primary residence, up to the estimated fair market value of the primary residence at the time the advisory contract is entered into may not be included as a liability (except that if the amount of such indebtedness outstanding at the time of calculation exceeds the amount outstanding 60 days before such time, other than as a result of the acquisition of the primary residence, the amount of such excess must be included as a liability); and*
 - 3. Indebtedness that is secured by the person’s primary residence in excess of the estimated fair market value of the residence must be included as a liability, or*
 - b. Is a qualified purchaser as defined in section 2(a) (51) (AA) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (15U.S.C. 80a-2(51)(A)) at the time the contract is entered; or*
- (iii) A natural person who immediately prior to entering into the contract is;*
 - a. An executive officer, director, trustee, general partner or person serving in similar capacity, of the investment adviser; or*
 - b. An employee of the investment adviser (other than an employee performing solely clerical, secretarial or administrative functions with regard to the investment adviser) who, in connection with his or her regular functions or duties, participates in the investment activities of such investment adviser, provided that such employee has been performing such functions and duties for or on behalf of the investment adviser, or substantially similar functions or duties for or on behalf of another company for at least 12 months.*

The Fund also relies on an exemption from registration under The Investment Company Act of 1940.

Investment in the Fund involves a significant degree of risk. All relevant information, terms and conditions relative to the Fund, including the management fee to be paid to the general partner, suitability, investment strategy, risk factors, and potential conflicts of interest, are set forth in the Private Offering Memorandum, Limited Partnership Agreement, and Subscription Agreement, which each subscriber is required to receive and/or execute prior to being accepted as a limited partner of the Fund.

Since Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has a financial interest in the Fund, an investment in the Fund presents a conflict of interest for the Firm.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC charges all Clients, other than as described in this section, a percentage of assets under management. Clients who are invested in the Fund also pay a management fee to the General Partner and an incentive fee, which is also a performance-based fee. Given that we manage both types of accounts, and there is an incentive to favor the Fund (and performance-based fee accounts), this conflict of interest is addressed in the Firm’s Policies and Procedures/Code of Ethics. Specifically, limitations are placed upon the timing of trades in the Fund relative to those in other Client accounts, and all trades are reviewed monthly to ensure adherence to these procedures.

Allocation of investment opportunities is not typically an issue. Investment opportunities are available to all Clients depending upon their risk tolerance.

Item 7 –Types of Clients

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC provides portfolio management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates, corporations or business entities, and a private investment fund (The Plato Fund, L.P.).

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC requires a minimum of $1,000,000 of assets under management, calculated by household for investment supervisory services, although this may be negotiable under certain circumstances (i.e. anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, related accounts, account composition, etc.). We group related Client accounts (households) for the purposes of achieving the minimum size requirement.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC was formed to provide superior portfolio management with a focus towards value.

A. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC uses various security analysis methods as the basis for its investment strategies. This information is derived from financial newspapers and magazines, inspections of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the SEC, company press releases, as well as other various independent analyses.

The investment strategies used to implement any investment advice given to Clients include, but are not limited to, long term purchases (securities held at least a year), short term purchases (securities sold within a year), and when appropriate to the needs of the Client, we may recommend the use of trading (securities sold within 30 days), margin transactions or option writing. Because these investment strategies involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be recommended when consistent with the Client's stated tolerance for risk. Through our association with TD Ameritrade, Clients can and sometimes do receive institutional class mutual funds as part of their portfolio construction.

Comprehensive research, disciplined value-based strategy, absolute return focus and low portfolio volatility frame every investment decision at Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC. We search for well-managed companies and securities that are temporarily priced below their true longer-term value. Securities in our portfolio share many of the following attributes:

- Increasing cash flow and operating margins
- Attractive price to book value
- Increasing insider and management ownership
- Unique balance sheet characteristics
- Leadership changes among business lines within the company
- Known company board or management
- Business plans and strategies that consider equity and profitability

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC concentrates on companies and securities with market capitalizations between $100 million and $2 billion.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that Clients should be prepared to bear.

B. All Clients have well diversified portfolios constructed to their individual risk tolerance. The investment strategies used on behalf of our Clients' accounts may cover a wide range of investment types. Certain risks applicable to our management of our Clients' assets are described below.

Risks Associated with Securities Investments Generally. Investing in securities involves a variety of risks, including the loss of capital. The value of any such investments will depend upon many factors beyond our control. The securities markets generally are affected by, among other things, the state of the economy, inflation rates and unemployment, trade, fiscal and monetary policies and national and international political and economic events. All securities investments risk the loss of capital. The nature of the securities to be purchased and traded and the investment techniques and strategies we employ may increase this risk.

Investing Generally. Our investment strategies are designed for investors seeking potential long-term growth from investments, who do not require regular current income and who can accept a high degree of risk in their investments. In view of, among other things, our ability to invest in a wide range of securities and instruments on behalf of our Clients' accounts and to use a broad variety of investment techniques, our investment management services may be deemed speculative in nature and are not intended to be a comprehensive investment program. No assurance can be given that our Clients will achieve their investment objectives or that our investment strategies will be successful.

Institutional Risk. The institutions, including brokerage firms and banks, with which our Clients' accounts trade or invest, may encounter financial difficulties that impair the operational capabilities or the capital position of such accounts. Institutions performing services for our Clients' accounts may encounter financial difficulties that impair their operational capabilities. In such event, there is a risk that our Clients' accounts could be faced with trading or settlement delays and/or portfolio losses.

Non-Diversification and Concentration. Diversifying an investment portfolio can reduce the risks of investing. This may include limiting the amount of money invested in any one company or, on a broader scale, limiting the amount invested in any one industry or geographic region. To retain flexibility, our Clients' accounts may be non-diversified. In addition, the size of a portfolio may limit our ability to achieve the desired level of diversification in such portfolio. To the extent a significant portion of a portfolio is invested in a few issuers' securities, the performance of the portfolio could be significantly affected by the performance of those issuers. In addition, an investment portfolio with limited diversification may be subject to more rapid change in value than would be the case if the portfolio were required to maintain a wide diversification among industries, areas, types of securities and issuers, and will not have the protection against risk that diversification provides.

Equity Risks. The value of equity securities generally will vary with the performance of the issuer and movements in the equity markets. As a result, a Client's account may suffer losses if it invests in equity securities of issuers whose performance diverges from our expectations or if equity markets generally move in a single direction and the Client's account has not been hedged against such a general move. To the extent a Client's account invests in equity derivatives and private placements activities, the Client's account will be exposed to risks that issuers will not fulfill their contractual obligations, such as delivering marketable common stocks upon conversions of convertible securities and registering restricted securities for public resale.

Price Volatility. Equity securities are inherently volatile. Such volatility may result in the value of a portfolio holding such securities fluctuating from time-to-time more greatly than those of other portfolios which may be more diversified. There can be no assurance that our investment strategy, including our hedging techniques, or other investment strategies or techniques, will be effective in protecting our Clients' accounts from such price volatility.

Investments with Limited or No Liquidity. Our Clients' accounts may take significant positions securities which are relatively large as compared to their trading volume or overall market capitalization. Such positions may at times prove more difficult to sell in a timely or efficient manner and could thus impair to some extent the ability to fully realize portfolio gains or limit losses. We generally do not intend to limit investments to issuers of any minimum capitalization and may, in fact, focus upon smaller capitalization stocks when such securities appear to afford greater appreciation potential. Such stocks often have less liquidity than large capitalization issues.

Call Options. The seller (writer) of a call option that is covered (e.g., the writer holds the underlying security) assumes the risk of a decline in the market price of the underlying security below the purchase price of the underlying security less the premium received and gives up the opportunity for gain on the underlying security above the exercise price of the option. The seller of an uncovered call option assumes the risk of a theoretically unlimited increase in the market price of the underlying security above the exercise price of the option. The securities necessary to satisfy the exercise of an uncovered call option may be unavailable for purchase, except at much higher prices, thereby reducing or eliminating the value of the premium. The buyer of a call option assumes the risk of losing the entire premium investment in the call option.

Put Options. The seller (writer) of a put option which is covered (e.g., the writer has a short position in the underlying security) assumes the risk of an increase in the market price of the underlying security above the sales price (in establishing the short position) of the underlying security plus the premium received, and gives up the opportunity for gain on the underlying security if the market price falls below the exercise price of the option. The seller of an uncovered put option assumes the risk of a decline in the market price of the underlying security below the exercise price of the option. The buyer of a put option assumes the risk of losing the entire investment in the put option.

Leverage; Interest Rates; Margin. (Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC very rarely uses these strategies). We expect to utilize leverage on behalf of our Clients' accounts on a very selective basis, as we consider appropriate, primarily for investment purposes to increase investment positions or to make additional investments. Leverage may be employed by means of conventional margin arrangements, or through options, swaps, forwards and other derivative instruments (i.e., so called “synthetic” leverage). While leverage (including the use of derivatives) presents opportunities for increasing total return, it has the effect of potentially increasing losses as well. The effect of the use of leverage in a market that moves adversely to the investments of the entity employing the leverage, could result in a loss that would be greater than if leverage were not employed. In addition, the interest of borrowings will affect operating results.

The use of short-term borrowings may result in certain additional risks. For example, should the securities that are pledged to brokers to secure margin accounts decline in value, or should brokers increase their maintenance margin requirements (i.e., reduce the percentage of a position that can be financed), then borrower could be subject to a “margin call,” pursuant to which the borrower must either deposit additional funds with the broker or suffer mandatory liquidation of the pledged securities to compensate for the decline in value.

Limitations on Shorting and Hedging Strategies. We may employ certain hedging techniques directed primarily toward general market risks. Hedging against a decline in the value of a portfolio position does not eliminate fluctuations in the values of portfolio positions or prevent losses if the values of such positions decline, but establishes other positions designed to gain from those same developments, thus moderating the decline in the overall portfolio value. Such hedge transactions, however, also limit the opportunity for gain if the value of the portfolio position should increase. In addition, the degree of correlation between price movements of the instruments used in a hedging strategy and price movements in the portfolio position being hedged may vary. Insufficient correlation between hedged and hedging positions may not only result in failing to protect against risks sought to be hedged but may increase the magnitude of overall loss in the event of losses in the hedging positions.

For a variety of reasons, we may not seek or be able to establish a sufficiently accurate correlation between such hedging instruments and the portfolio holdings being hedged. Moreover, we may not necessarily endeavor to hedge a portfolio whatsoever. In the event hedging is utilized, it will be employed, in general, solely as a technique to limit certain market risks. As a general matter, a portfolio will still be exposed to basic issuer risk and other risks attendant to its investment strategy and to positions, which risks will not be generally hedged.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of them or the integrity of their management.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has no legal or disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

A. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC and its management persons are not registered as a broker-dealer or representative of a broker-dealer and do not have any applications pending to register as a broker-dealer or as a representative of a broker-dealer.

B. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC and its management persons are not registered, nor have an application pending to register, as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, commodity trading advisor, or an associated person of the foregoing entities.

C. As described previously in Item 6 – Performance Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC serves as General Partner to a private investment limited partnership known as The Plato Fund L.P. (the Fund). Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC and The Plato Fund, L.P. are under common control of Thomas F. Paolozzi III, President, and Chief Compliance Officer. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC provides investment advice to the Fund and offers advice to clients on the advisability of investing in the Fund.

The nature of the conflict of interest resulting from this arrangement is further elaborated in Item 6, as well as the steps taken by the Firm to address those conflicts.

D. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC does not recommend or select other investment advisers for its Clients, nor does it have any other business relationships with other investment advisers.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

A. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has adopted a Code of Ethics that sets forth high ethical standards of business conduct we require of our employees, including compliance with applicable federal securities laws. The Firm's Code of Ethics also includes policies and procedures for the review of quarterly securities transactions reports as well as initial and annual securities holdings reports that must be submitted by the Firm's covered persons. The Code also includes oversight, enforcement and recordkeeping provisions. A copy of Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC's Code of Ethics is available to our advisory Clients or any prospective Client upon request to Thomas F. Paolozzi III at our principal office address.

B. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC recommends to Clients that they buy or sell securities in which the Firm has some financial interest. Specifically, as described in Item 6 – Performance Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management previously, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC acts as the General Partner to a private investment limited partnership known as The Plato Fund, L.P. and offers advice to its Clients on the advisability of investing in The Plato Fund, L.P. As this represents a conflict of interest, the Firm's Code of Ethics places limitations upon the timing of trades in the Fund relative to those in client accounts and requires ongoing review of trades to ensure compliance with these procedures.

C. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC buys or sells for its related persons securities that it also recommends to Clients. The Firm places such securities on its Restricted List and prohibits the purchase or sale of Restricted Securities in The Plato Fund, L.P. on the same trading day as any transaction in that security effected for any other Client accounts. A record of all trades placed in Client accounts, including The Plato Fund, is reviewed quarterly to ensure adherence to these procedures.

D. See paragraph C above.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC requires that Clients direct the Firm to place all trades through TD Ameritrade. We have evaluated TD Ameritrade and believe that TD Ameritrade will provide our Clients with a blend of execution services, commission costs and professionalism that will assist us in obtaining best execution for transactions. While we have a reasonable belief that TD Ameritrade can obtain best execution and competitive prices, we will not be independently seeking best execution price capability through other broker dealers. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC reserves the right to decline acceptance of any Client account that directs the use of a broker dealer other than TD Ameritrade.

While there are numerous benefits to Clients relative to our exclusive use of TD Ameritrade as a broker-dealer, there is also an incentive to select TD Ameritrade based upon our interests rather than our Clients' interests.

A. The Custodian and Broker We Use

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC does not maintain custody of your assets that we manage, although we may be deemed to have custody of your assets if you give us authority to withdraw assets from your account (see Item 15 – Custody). Your assets must be maintained in an account at a “qualified custodian,” generally a broker-dealer or bank. Except for an alternative investment position held in some Client IRA accounts which are custodied at Millennium Trust Company, we require that our Clients use TD Ameritrade, a registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, as the qualified custodian. We are independently owned and operated and are not affiliated with TD Ameritrade. TD Ameritrade will hold your assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when we instruct them to. While we require that you use TD Ameritrade as custodian/broker, you will decide whether to do so and will open your account with TD Ameritrade by entering into an account agreement directly with them. We do not open the account for you, although we will assist you in doing so. If you do not wish to place your assets with TD Ameritrade, then we reserve the right to decline acceptance of your account. Not all advisors require their clients to use a broker-dealer or custodian selected by the advisor. Even though your account is maintained at TD Ameritrade, we can still use other brokers to execute trades for your account as described below (see “Your Brokerage and Custody Costs”), although we do not actively seek to do so.

The Plato Fund's assets are maintained at The Northern Trust Company.

How We Select Brokers/Custodians

We seek to use a custodian/broker who will hold your assets and execute transactions on terms that are, overall, most advantageous when compared to other available providers and their services. We consider a wide range of factors, including, among others:

- Combination of transaction execution services and asset custody services
- Capability to execute, clear, and settle trades (buy and sell securities for your account)
- Capability to facilitate transfers and payments to and from accounts (wire transfers, check requests, bill payment, etc.)
- Breadth of available investment products (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, etc.)
- Availability of investment research and tools that assist us in making investment decisions
- Quality of services
- Competitiveness of the price of those services (commission rates, margin interest rates, other fees, etc.)
- Reputation, financial strength and stability
- Prior service to us and our other clients
- Availability of other products and services that benefit us, as discussed below (see “Products and Services Available to Us from TD Ameritrade”).

Your Brokerage and Custody Costs

You are not charged separately for custody costs or brokerage costs on trades executed by TD Ameritrade. As described in Item 4 – Advisory Business, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC sponsors a wrap fee program which provides the client with investment advisory and brokerage execution and custody services for one all-inclusive fee.

We have determined that having TD Ameritrade execute trades is consistent with our duty to seek “best execution” of your trades. Best execution means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above (see “How We Select Brokers/Custodians”).

Products and Services Available to Us from TD Ameritrade

As described above, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has an arrangement with TD Ameritrade through which TD Ameritrade provides us with TD Ameritrade’s “platform” services. The platform services include, among others, brokerage, custodial, administrative support, record keeping and related services that are intended to support intermediaries like us in conducting business and in serving the best interests of our clients but that may also benefit us.

As part of the arrangement, TD Ameritrade makes available to us, at no additional charge to us, certain research and brokerage services, including research services obtained by TD Ameritrade directly from independent research companies, as selected by us (within specified parameters). These research and brokerage services presently include services such as mutual fund research and are used by us to manage accounts for which we have investment discretion.

We may also receive additional services which may include software and technology. Without this arrangement, we might be compelled to purchase the same or similar services at our own expense.

Because of receiving such services for no additional cost, we may have an incentive to continue to use or expand the use of TD Ameritrade's services. We examined the potential conflict of interest when we chose to enter the relationship with TD Ameritrade and have determined that the relationship is in the best interests of our Clients and satisfies our client obligations, including our duty to seek best execution. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker dealer's services, including the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC and TD Ameritrade are not affiliates.

Since all our RIA Client accounts use TD Ameritrade for custodial and brokerage services, there are no allocation issues related to benefits received because of our relationship with TD Ameritrade.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC does not have any need to consider, in selecting or recommending TD Ameritrade as broker-dealer, whether it receives client referrals from any broker-dealer or third party, as client referrals are not relevant to our use of TD Ameritrade.

B. Aggregated Trades

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC may block trades where possible and when advantageous to Clients. This blocking of trades permits the trading of aggregate blocks of securities composed of assets from multiple client accounts. Block trading allows the Firm to execute equity trades in a timelier, equitable manner. No advisory Client will be favored over any other Client. Each Client that participates in an aggregated order will participate at the average share price for all Firm transactions in a given security on a given business day.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

A. Account reviews are conducted on an ongoing basis by Thomas F. Paolozzi III, President. All Clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to advise Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC of any changes in their investment objectives and/or financial situation. All Clients (in person or via telephone) are encouraged to review investment objectives and account performance with us on an annual basis.

B. Accounts are reviewed following material deposits or withdrawals. Accounts may also be reviewed in conjunction with the purchase or sale of a position across all Client accounts.

C. Clients receive written reports as follows: Clients are provided with transaction confirmation notices and monthly account statements directly from the custodian. Clients also receive a written quarterly report from Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC summarizing account activity and performance. Clients are urged to compare the statements from TD Ameritrade with the quarterly reports received from us.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

A. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC receives an economic benefit from TD Ameritrade in the form of the support products and services it makes available to us and other independent investment advisors whose Clients maintain their accounts at TD Ameritrade. These products and services, how they benefit us, and the related conflicts of interest are described in Item 12 – Brokerage Practices. The availability to us of TD Ameritrade’s products and services is not based on us giving investment advice, such as buying securities for our Clients.

B. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC does not compensate any outside party for Client referrals.

Item 15 – Custody

Under government regulations, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC is deemed to have custody of your assets if, for example, you authorize us to instruct TD Ameritrade to deduct our advisory fees directly from your account or if you grant us authority to move your money to another person’s account. Our Clients grant us authority to debit fees directly from their accounts. We do not have the authority to move money between non-like accounts without our Clients’ written authorization. All Clients receive account statements from their custodian, TD Ameritrade, monthly, which they should carefully review. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC also sends quarterly performance reports to clients, as described in Item 13 – Review of Accounts. These reports contain a legend that urges clients to compare the information contained in our report to the statements they receive directly from TD Ameritrade and, with respect to The Plato Fund, Ultimus Fund Solutions.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC also acts as both General Partner and investment advisor to a limited partnership, The Plato Fund, LP, which also constitutes custody. As required, The Plato Fund is audited annually by a PCAOB registered and inspected accounting firm, the audit is performed within 120 days of the Fund’s fiscal year end, and the results of the audit are delivered to all investors of the Fund.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC requests that it be provided with written authority to determine which securities and the amounts of securities that are bought or sold. Any limitations that the Client desires to place on this discretionary authority shall be set forth in writing. Clients may change/amend these limitations as required.

This written authority is granted in the Advisory Agreement signed by Clients and executed by Thomas F. Paolozzi III upon commencement of the advisory relationship.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC does not vote Client proxies. Therefore, although we may provide investment advice relative to Client investment assets, our Clients maintain exclusive responsibility for (1) directing the way proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by the Client shall be voted, and (2) making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other type events pertaining to the Client's investment assets. The Client shall correspondingly instruct the custodian of the assets that all proxies and shareholder communications relating to the Client's investment assets should be sent directly to the Client from the issuer. Clients may contact us with any questions about a solicitation.

Item 18 – Financial Information

A. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC does not require or solicit prepayment of fees more than six months in advance.

B. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has discretionary authority over Client accounts. There are no financial conditions that are likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments to Clients.

C. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has never been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time.

Item 19 - State Registered Adviser Information

A. Please refer to Part 2B Brochure Supplement Attachments for information related to principal executive officer.

B. Please refer to Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations. Approximately 40% of the Firm's time is allocated to The Plato Fund, L.P.

C. As previously stated, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC charges all advisory Clients a percentage of assets under management for advisory services, other than the Fund, which is charged a performance fee as described below.

The Plato Fund

Some of the Firm's clients have also elected to invest in The Plato Fund, L.P., to which Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC acts as the General Partner and provides investment advice. The Plato Fund, L.P. charges its partners, who are qualified clients as defined by the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, a management fee and a performance-based incentive fee. Performance fees are 20% of each partner's net new profits, assessed annually on June 30, with a high watermark.

For example:

Year 1 – Partner A’s initial investment is $100,000

June 30 value: $120,000

Performance fee: $$120,000 \text{ less } $100,000 = $20,000 \times 20\% = \mathbf{$4,000}$

Year 2

June 30 value: $100,000

Performance fee: $0 ($120,000 is the high watermark)

Year 3

June 30 value: $150,000

Performance fee: $$150,000 \text{ less } $120,000 = $30,000 \times 20\% = \mathbf{$6,000}$

Performance based fee arrangements may create an incentive for an advisor to recommend investments which may be riskier or more speculative than those which would be recommended under a different fee arrangement.

D. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has no disciplinary events to disclose.

E. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has no relationship or arrangement with any issuer of securities other than already disclosed in Item 10.

Item 4 – Services, Fees and Compensation

A. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC is the sponsor and investment manager of the Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC Wrap-Fee Program (hereinafter the "Program"). A "wrap-fee" program is one that provides the Client with advisory and brokerage execution services for one all-inclusive fee. Except as described below, a Program Client is not charged separate fees for the respective components of the total service. To participate in the Program, our Clients must direct the use of TD Ameritrade to act as broker and custodian for Program account securities transactions.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC provides its Clients (i.e. individuals, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, and business entities) with discretionary investment management services. We do not provide financial planning or insurance planning services. To the extent specifically requested by a Client, we may provide limited consultation services on investment and non-investment related matters. Any such consultation services, to the extent rendered, shall be rendered exclusively on an unsolicited basis, for which we shall not receive any separate or additional fee.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC provides continuous advice to a Client regarding investment of Client funds based on the individual needs of the Client. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a Client's circumstances are established, we develop a Client's suitability and risk tolerance levels, and create and manage a portfolio based on such. We will manage advisory accounts on a discretionary basis only. Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the Client (i.e., conservative total return, moderate total return, or aggressive total return).

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC will create a portfolio consisting of one or all the following: individual equities, bonds, ETF's, other investment products, and no-load or load-waived mutual funds. We will allocate the Client's assets among various investments taking into consideration the financial objectives of the Client. The mutual funds will be selected based on any or all the following criteria: the fund's performance history; the industry sector in which the fund invests; the track record of the fund's manager; the fund's investment objectives; the fund's management style and philosophy; and the fund's management fee structure. Portfolio weighting between funds and market sectors will be determined by each client's individual needs and circumstances as well as market conditions. Clients will have the opportunity to place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments which will be made on the Client's behalf. Clients will retain individual ownership of all securities.

When appropriate to the needs of the Client, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC may recommend the use of trading (securities sold within 30 days), margin transactions or option writing. Because these investment strategies involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be recommended when consistent with the Client's stated tolerance for risk.

The annual fee for the Program is 1.35% of assets under management. In certain circumstances, fees may be negotiable. The wrap fee includes all advisory and brokerage costs (including transaction costs), quarterly performance reports, third party custodial fees, exchange fees and transfer taxes. The wrap fee does not include certain administrative fees for wire transfers or certificate issues.

Since Thomas F. Paolozzi III is the sole portfolio manager, and the sole owner of Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC, the wrap fee will ultimately be paid to him. The Client's written agreement with Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC establishes that Client accounts will be debited by the custodian in advance for the wrap fee (also known as "advisor's fee") on a quarterly basis as follows: January 1 for the period consisting of the first quarter, April 1 for the period consisting of the second quarter, July 1 for the period consisting of the third quarter, and October 1 for the period consisting of the fourth quarter. These dates may vary at the discretion of the advisor. The amount of the fee will be based upon the value of the Client's account on the month end prior to the payable date.

B. In considering this Program, a prospective Client should be aware that the Program may cost a Client than purchasing the actual services separately from other advisors or broker-dealers. The factors that should be considered by a prospective Client include the size of a Client's portfolio, the nature of the investments to be managed, commission costs, custodial expenses, if any, the anticipated level of trading activity and the amount of advisory fees only for managing the Client portfolio.

C. The Program's wrap fee does not include miscellaneous exchange fees, interest charges, electronic fund and wire transfer fees, The American Depository Receipt agency processing fees, and any charges, taxes or other fees mandated by any federal, state or other applicable law.

D. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC and its President receive compensation because of the Client's participation in the Program as described above. We offer no alternative investment advisory or wrap program; therefore, we receive no additional compensation because of our Clients' participation in this Program. There is no conflict of interest associated with recommending the Program to our Clients as it is the only Program available. Clients should understand that similar advisory services may be available from other registered investment advisors for higher or lower fees.

Item 5 – Account Requirements and Types of Clients

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC provides portfolio management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates, or charitable organizations, corporations or business entities, and a private investment fund (The Plato Fund, L.P.).

We require a minimum of $1,000,000 of assets under management, calculated by household for investment supervisory services, although this may be negotiable under certain circumstances (i.e. anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, related accounts, account composition, etc.). Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC groups related Client accounts (households) for the purposes of achieving the minimum size requirement.

Item 6 – Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

Thomas F. Paolozzi III, Owner of Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC, is the sole portfolio manager of Client accounts and makes all investment decisions.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Performance based fee arrangements may create an incentive for an advisor to recommend investments which may be riskier or more speculative than those which would be recommended under a different fee arrangement. Such fee arrangements also create an incentive to favor higher fee-paying accounts over other accounts in the allocation of investment opportunities. As discussed below, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has procedures designed and implemented to ensure that all Clients are treated fairly and equally, and to prevent this conflict from influencing the allocation of investment opportunities among Clients.

In addition to managed accounts, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC provides investment advice to a private investment limited partnership known as The Plato Fund, L.P. (the “Fund”), in which Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC acts as the General Partner. The Plato Fund, L.P. is not available through the Wrap-Fee Program.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC also offers advice to its Clients on the advisability of investing in the Plato Fund, L.P. Interests in the Fund are privately offered only to accredited investors pursuant to Regulation D under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and qualified clients under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. The Fund also relies on an exemption from registration under The Investment Company Act of 1940. Investment in the Fund involves a significant degree of risk. All relevant information, terms and conditions relative to the Fund, including the management fee to be paid to the general partner, suitability, investment strategy, risk factors, and potential conflicts of interest, are set forth in the Private Offering Memorandum, Limited Partnership Agreement, and Subscription Agreement, which each subscriber is required to receive and/or execute prior to being accepted as a limited partner of the Fund.

Since Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC’s Principal has a financial interest in the Fund; an investment in the Fund presents a conflict of interest for Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC charges all Wrap-Fee Clients a percentage of assets under management. Partners in The Plato Fund, L.P. are charged a management fee and a performance-based incentive fee. Given that Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC manages both types of accounts, and there is an incentive to favor those that pay a performance-based incentive fee, this conflict of interest is addressed in the firm’s Policies and Procedures/Code of Ethics. Specifically, limitations are placed upon the timing of trades in the Fund relative to those in other Client accounts, and all trades are reviewed monthly to ensure adherence to these procedures.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC uses various security analysis methods as the basis for its investment strategies. This information is derived from financial newspapers and magazines, inspections of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the SEC, company press releases, as well as other various independent analyses.

The investment strategies used to implement any investment advice given to clients include, but are not limited to, long term purchases (securities held at least a year), short term purchases (securities sold within a year), and when appropriate to the needs of the client, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC may recommend the use of trading (securities sold within 30 days), short sales, margin transactions or option writing. Because these investment strategies involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be recommended when consistent with the Client's stated tolerance for risk. Through our association with TD Ameritrade, Clients can and sometimes do receive institutional class funds as part of their portfolio construction.

Comprehensive research, disciplined value-based strategy, absolute return focus and low portfolio volatility frame every investment decision at Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC. We search for well-managed companies and securities that are temporarily priced below their true longer-term value. Securities in our portfolio share many of the following attributes:

- Increasing cash flow and operating margins
- Attractive price to book value
- Increasing insider and management ownership
- Unique balance sheet characteristics
- Leadership changes among business lines within the company
- Known company board or management
- Business plans and strategies that consider equity and profitability

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC concentrates on companies and ETF's with market capitalizations between $100 million and $2 billion.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that Clients should be prepared to bear.

Item 7 – Client Information Provided to Portfolio Manager

As previously indicated, Thomas F. Paolozzi III serves as President of Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC and manager of all Client portfolios. He is therefore privy to all significant Client information which is typically provided at the inception of the Client relationship. Client investment goals and risk tolerance are confirmed annually, and Clients are urged in writing to update us promptly if there are changes to their financial condition.

Item 8 – Client Contact with Portfolio Manager

Client contact with Thomas F. Paolozzi III is not restricted in any way. Phone calls are always accepted, and face-to-face meetings are encouraged on an annual basis if possible.

Item 9 – Additional Information

Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of them or the integrity of their management. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has no legal or disciplinary events to disclose.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC and its management persons are not registered as a broker-dealer or representative of a broker-dealer and do not have any applications pending to register as a broker-dealer or as a representative of a broker-dealer.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC and its management persons are not registered, nor have an application pending to register, as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, commodity trading advisor, or an associated person of the foregoing entities.

As described previously in Item 6- Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC serves as General Partner to a private investment limited partnership known as The Plato Fund L.P. (the Fund). Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC and The Plato Fund, L.P. are under common control of Thomas F. Paolozzi III, President, and Chief Compliance Officer. Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC provides investment advice to the Fund and offers advice to Clients on the advisability of investing in the Fund.

The nature of the conflict of interest resulting from this arrangement is further elaborated in Item 6 – Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation, as well as the steps taken by the Firm to address those conflicts.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC does not recommend or select other investment advisers for its Clients, nor does it have any other business relationships with other investment advisers.

B. Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has adopted a Code of Ethics that sets forth high ethical standards of business conduct that we require of our employees, including compliance with applicable federal securities laws. Our

Code of Ethics also includes policies and procedures for the review of quarterly securities transactions reports as well as initial and annual securities holdings reports that must be submitted by our covered persons. The code also includes oversight, enforcement and recordkeeping provisions. A copy of Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC's Code of Ethics is available to our advisory Clients or any prospective Client upon request to Thomas F. Paolozzi III at our principal address.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC recommends to Clients that they buy or sell securities in which we have some financial interest. Specifically, as described in Item 6 – Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation previously, Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC acts as the General Partner to a private investment limited partnership known as The Plato Fund, L.P. and offers advice to its Clients on the advisability of investing in The Plato Fund, L.P. As this represents a conflict of interest, the Firm's Code of Ethics places limitations upon the timing of trades in the Fund relative to those in Client accounts and requires ongoing review of trades to ensure compliance with these procedures.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC buys or sells for its related persons securities that it also recommends to clients. The Firm places such securities on its Restricted List and prohibits the purchase or sale of Restricted Securities in The Plato Fund, L.P. on the same trading day as any transaction in that security effected for any other Client accounts. A record of all trades placed in Client accounts, including The Plato Fund, is reviewed Quarterly to ensure adherence to these procedures.

Review of Accounts

Account reviews are conducted on an ongoing basis by Thomas F. Paolozzi III, President. All Clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to advise us of any changes in their investment objectives and/or financial situation. All Clients are encouraged to review investment objectives and account performance with the Firm on an annual basis.

Accounts are reviewed following material deposits or withdrawals. Accounts may also be reviewed in conjunction with the purchase or sale of a position across all Client accounts.

Clients are provided with transaction confirmation notices and monthly account statements directly from the custodian. Clients also receive a quarterly report from Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC summarizing account activity and performance. Clients are urged to compare these two reports.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC receives an economic benefit from TD Ameritrade in the form of the support products and services it makes available to us and other independent investment advisors whose Clients maintain their accounts at TD Ameritrade. The availability to us of TD Ameritrade's products and services is not based on us giving investment advice, such as buying securities for our Clients.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC does not compensate any outside party for Client referrals.

Financial Information

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC does not require or solicit prepayment of fees more than six months in advance.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has discretionary authority over Client accounts. There are no financial conditions that are likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments to Clients.

Alexander Capital Advisors, LLC has never been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time.

Item 10 – Requirements for State Registered Advisers
